PRECIOUS PEARL

The Women Empowerment Cell of GEMS Polytechnic College organized a dynamic empowerment program titled "Precious Pearl" on December 13, 2023. Mrs. Lidiya Princy, a specialist in youth counseling, graced the occasion as the guest speaker. The event commenced at 2:00 pm and saw enthusiastic participation from all female students of the college.

In an effort to create an engaging atmosphere, the students were arranged in a semicircle format, enhancing their attention and involvement. Female faculty members were also invited to be a part of this empowering initiative. Miss Sambhavana, a second-year CSE student, took on the role of the anchor, while Miss Manisha from the third year CSE delivered a spectacular welcome address.

LIDIYA PRINCY

Mrs. Lidiya brought an energetic vibe to the event from the start, emphasizing the uniqueness and preciousness of each girl. She beautifully illustrated the analogy of precious stones, instilling a sense of happiness and clarity among the girls that they are indeed unique and wonderfully made in the sight of God. The session incorporated various action-based activities that kept the girls active and engaged throughout. Mrs. Lidiya encouraged open discussions, allowing the girls to express themselves freely. Real-time doubts were clarified, fostering a positive learning environment. Group-based activities further enhanced the interactive and enjoyable nature of the program.

GPC WOMEN EMPOWERMENT CELL

A noteworthy aspect of the event was the active involvement of female faculty members who organized and managed the entire event, including handling the sound system and photography. This holistic approach added a special touch to the occasion, and the GPC Women Empowerment Cell takes pride in the success of this initiative. The "Precious Pearl" program not only provided a platform for fun-filled activities but also imparted valuable moral values, making it a significant achievement for women empowerment at GEMS Polytechnic College.
